

Hartke demands Johnson offer an immediate Viet peace plan

SOUTH BEND UPI — Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., demanded Monday night President Johnson offer an immediate plan for peace in Vietnam to terminate the "increasingly unpopular war."

Hartke called on the President to fulfill a mandate by the voters in the 1964 election when, he said, the Democratic Party "announced as the peace party."

"I believe that we must have a plan for peace now and not 15 months from now," Hartke told a University of Notre Dame audience. "I call upon my Democratic Party and my Democratic President for a peace plan, a peace plan now."

Hartke, a critic of administration policy in Vietnam since early 1965, said the public "is renewing its call for a peace plan to match its strong mandate of 1964. A peace plan now is a necessity. I believe that it can be done. It must be done."

He called on the party and the President "to admit the futility of the war plan and all its twists of escalation."

A pause in the bombings of North Vietnam "might have been enough to work from" months or years ago in seeking negotiations with the Communists, Hartke said. "But now that our position and Hanoi's have become so fixed, so rigid, a bombing pause by itself is not enough."

"A bombing pause alone might lead to frustration, which would break out in something worse than we have now," he said.

Hartke also urged that the U.S. take up Vietnam in the United Nations.

He called for "a new team of advisers for President Johnson" but said "draw your own conclusions" on whether he was proposing the ouster of Defense Secretary Robert McNamara.

The Hoosier senator said that the strategy of increasing military escalation to bring peace "has been a failure" and it "brought about three tragic changes in the premises of our policy and threatens to bring about more and more tragic changes."

Those changes, Hartke said, were "to shift from the social and political goals for South Vietnam to almost purely military goals . . . to shift our belief about who the enemy is" and a shift of the "primary objective" to an "American military victory."

Hartke called attention to "the great significance" of statements made Oct. 12 by Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a news conference that "our real enemy is China" and that "the reason for what we have been doing and what we might do is the security of the United States."

Deviating from his text, Hartke said "Who really believes American security is threatened by North Vietnam" since China and Russia are not involved.

Hartke said "this kind of shifting in purposes with continued escalation has no resemblance to a plan for peace."

"What has been the meaning of deaths and injuries and sacrifices in the past three years if the secretary of state can explain them away in words which do not match the commitments and promises of the President?" Hartke asked.

Fire Station remodeling plans submitted to Council

By FRANK PUCKETT, Jr.
Banner Staff Reporter

Consoer and Morgan Architects, Greencastle, submitted plans for the remodeling of the front of the city's fire station and received approval from the Greencastle City Council at the regular meeting held in City Hall last night.

The plans called for widening of the doors, removing the bell tower, and in general, remodeling the front of the building so that it can house the new fire truck. An estimation of the cost was thought to be in the neighborhood of $14,000.

Clifford Norton, professional engineer who submitted the plans, told the councilmen that their best bet was to build a new building. He commented that the present building is seventy years old and how long it will last, even with new construction of front, he didn't know. Norton remarked that the plans were corresponding with what the Council had requested.

Norton said the plans had previously been submitted to the Board of Works and according to City Attorney Rexell Boyd, the board has found no fault with the specifications.

When asked by the council if the plans met the requirements of the fire department Fire Chief Cassall Baley commented that " . . . our requirements are based on what the Council wants to do. As far as temporary requirements the plans are ok." Baley went on to say that eventually a new building will have to be constructed and that the present site could be used as a second station.

After more discussion of the matter the Council decided to pass a resolution to the effect that the engineering firm should proceed with the plans.

Claims presented before the Council were allowed except for a bill for approximately $600 from the N. G. Gilbert Corporation for tree trimming. The Council asked Street Department head Clyde Miller to explain the bill more fully. Miller told the group that he had been faced with more trees to cut than in previous years and that he felt they should have been done.

Miller went on to name all the trees that had been cut this year and gave a list of more he said should be cut. The discussion was then dropped by the group.

A motion also passed the Council stating that an investigation should be undertaken to determine if a street light is needed at the corner of Berry and Illinois Streets and if so a location should be selected. The matter was brought up by Councilman Robert Epelheimer.

Monthly reports included City Engineer Clifford Norton's. Norton reported that his department had issued eleven building permits at an estimated cost of $104,515.00 and referred two to the Board of Works, two trailer permits were issued and two referred to the Board of Zoning Appeals, two sign permits issued and one referred to the City Council, and one curb cutting and street cutting permit issued.

Clyde Miller reported that the street department has spent $123.00 on the city dump.

Damage suit filed

As result of a dive into Hammond Lake, east of Greencastle last June 23, Robert W. Blue has filed suit for damages in the Putnam Circuit Court.

Defendants in the action are Albert Hammond and Effie Marie Hammond.

Blue set out in his suit that his neck was permanently injured and that he was confined in a hospital from June 24 to August 22.

He asks for $35,000 in damages.

Dr. Lester G. McAllister, professor of Modern Church History at Christian Theological Seminary in Indianapolis, will speak on "The Age of Luther" at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday at Peace Lutheran Church. This talk will conclude the Reformation Observance sponsored by the Greencastle Ministerial Association.

A native of Little Rock, Arkansas, Dr. McAllister received his A.B. degree from Transylvania College, his B.D. degree from Lexington Theological Seminary, and his Th.D. degree from Pacific School of Religion in Berkeley, California.

The 450th anniversary of the Protestant Reformation has been the impetus for the presentation by the Ministerial Association of authoritative speakers on the Reformation from various church bodies. The public is invited to come Wednesday night at 8:00 to hear Dr. McAllister's talk. A free will offering will be received to help support such programs of the Greencastle Ministerial Association.

Bulletin

SAIGON UPI—U. S. planes today bombed North Vietnam's largest MIG airfield at Phuc Yen outside Hanoi for the first time of the war and shot down one MIG21 which rose to defend it. A second MIG was "probably" shot down.

Phuc Yen, 18 miles northwest of Hanoi, is considered the key to the defenses of the North Vietnamese capital and is ringed by anti-aircraft sites and surface-to-air missiles. (SAMs). It is considered the most heavily defended airbase in the North.

American pilots were so anxious to attack Phuc Yen that when it was removed from the restricted list pilots of all three American air arms volunteered for the raid—Navy, Air Force and Marines.

Halloween warning

With the approach of Halloween, Police Chief Roy Newgent today issued a warning against vandalism.

Any culprit caught damaging property will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, he said.

As usual, the police will tolerate good, clean fun by youngsters out trick or treating but vandals had better beware.

Destroying of Halloween pumpkin faces has been reported in Fox Ridge and elsewhere in the city. One father said he had bought and made three pumpkin faces only to have them smashed by thoughtless youngsters.

Kiwanis Club schedules travel, adventure series

The Kiwanis Club of Greencastle is presenting its first "Travel and Adventure Series" which will include six nationally known adventurers and explorers who are artists in the travelogue field. They appear on such major platforms as: National Geographic, Washington, D. C.; Town Hall, New York; Orchestra Hall, Chicago; and Town Hall, San Francisco.

Each is a professional photographer with many years experience in traveling and filming the many beautiful and interesting places around the world. These personally filmed, all-color motion pictures are especially popular because the man who shot the picture, appears on the stage, in person, and narrates his film. In addition to the thrilling motion pictures and the personal narration, many of the travelogues include a musical background and special sound effects for added enjoyment and realism.

Each member of the family, young and old, enjoys the travelogues for they are wholesome entertainment, educational and adventurous. Everyone has the urge to travel but only a few satisfy that desire. By attending the "Travel and Adventure Series" there is a joy and thrill in visiting those far-away places, such as Austria, Mexico, Africa, The Holy Lands, England, and others.

A season ticket for all six travelogues is offered at the low price of $6.00. Each ticket holder will have the satisfaction of knowing that the profit from the series will enable Kiwanis to continue its work on community projects.

To acquaint the public with the series, a travelogue will be presented free of charge on Wednesday, November 1, in the Junior High auditorium promptly at 8:00 p. m.

Tickets are available from any member of the local Kiwanis Club.

Yanks capture strategic village from Viet Cong

By EUGENE V. RISHER

SAIGON UPI — U. S. troops charged over piles of Communist dead today and captured a strategic fortified village from an elite North Vietnamese regiment.

American spokesmen said a first count showed at least 48 North Vietnamese corpses heaped at the edge of the coastal bastion, 380 miles northeast of Saigon, where about 400 U. S. Army 1st Air Cavalry Division troops trapped and defeated the 600-man Communist unit.

They said 15 Americans were killed and 17 wounded in the 18-hour battle next to the South China Sea.

U. S. jets and helicopter gunships also did much of the killing when the 1st Air Cavalry troops, two companies strong, trapped the 600 invaders of the 3rd North Vietnamese regiment at the fortified hamlet only 13 miles northeast of the allied bastion of Tam Ky.

At 1 p. m. Monday one 1st Cavalry Company—about 200 men—charged in from the south. A second company pushed toward the Communists from the north.

The North Vietnamese had given themselves away when, earlier, they poured heavy fire at one of the American companies. U. S. commanders, trying for months to rid the supply road area of Communist troops, sent in two more companies by helicopter to block the North Vietnamese escape routes toward the inland mountains.

The two attacking U. S. companies poured in fire and kept the 600 Communists pinned down while American strike planes and helicopter gunships zoomed in. Frantically, the Communists fought to get out. Night came and the Communists, apparently broken into twos and threes, began crawling away. Today's charge cleaned out the rest.

Sermon series at Bainbridge church

"Christian Personality" a series of sermons by Rev. Earl Davis will be held at the Bainbridge Christian Church at 7:30 p. m. October 29—November 5, except November 4.

Rev. Davis was raised in Bainbridge and brought up in the Somerset Christian Church.

He attended Earlham College at Richmond and the Christian Theological Seminary in Indianapolis.

Presently, he is serving the First Christian Church at Yorktown.

An invitation is issued to all to examine the elements of Christian personality and the Christian family during these services.

Nursery care will be provided.

Two defendants in circuit court Monday

James Alexander, 54, rural Bainbridge, appeared in the Putnam Circuit Court Monday after being arrested Saturday afternoon for public intoxication by Gilbert O'Hair, Bainbridge Town Marshal.

A previous suspended three months sentence on a charge of being a drunken pedestrian was revoked by Judge Francis N. Hamilton and Alexander will spend the next three months at the Indiana State Farm.

Mike Burk, 19, city, who had entered a plea of guilty to a second degree burglary count, returned to court Monday following a pre-sentence investigation.

Burk had been charged with theft of chain saws from the Putnam County Farm Bureau last year.

He was sentenced to the State Reformatory at Pendleton for 2-5 years.

Judge Hamilton suspended the sentence but placed the young man on strict probation.

He also must pay $10 a week to the Farm Bureau until the sum of $660 is paid in full.

DPU students host to visiting foreign officials

Students from DePauw University last night hosted a contingent of 13 African and Asian agricultural officials who are spending two weeks in Putnam County.

The visiting officials dined at campus living units. They will be feted again Thursday at a dinner at the university's Inter-Cultural Center.

The group arrived in Greencastle Oct. 15 to make an extended study of agricultural credit in this area. They began with a one-week detailed look into the operations of the Federal Land Bank Association and Production Credit Association here.

All of the international visitors hold key management and supervisory positions in rural credit, farm cooperative and land and water development institutions in their respective nations.

The trip to the United States is under the sponsorship of the U. S. Agency for International Development.

This week, in addition to their sessions on the DePauw campus, the group will visit several area farms to talk with farmers about the use of credit and observe farming techniques in the Midwest.

Nations represented in the entourage include Uganda, Nepal, Turkey, Pakistan, the Republic of China and Ethiopia.

Editorial-Wise Regarding the United Fund

When your solicitor comes around to see you for your fair-share pledge have you ever wondered just why people are turning more and more to the United Fund as the way to raise and administer money for voluntary health, welfare and recreation agencies?

The answer is simple. It is the one way in which people who give their money and time know they are getting their money's worth. They know that through the various controls that their money has only one way to go... for their community's betterment.

The United Fund is citizen controlled. It is the citizens, the volunteers, who really run the United Fund. They determine which agencies are worthy of being included in their year-round program, how much money will be allocated, and the kind of program each agency will administer for all the people, as well as for people in need.

If you, as a volunteer have been involved in making agency visitations, watchdogging budgets, enlisting volunteer campaigners, doing promotion work, setting policy, or any of the hundreds of other time-consuming jobs, you know the answer.

If you have been a regular and faithful giver with your fair-share pledge, you must have a good answer as to why you do it.

People just don't give money because they are asked. They give money because they believe in the purpose for which they are asked to contribute.

The continued growth of the United Way in some 2,225 American communities which raised $670 million in 1967 is an indication that American people trust their United Fund to do the job for which they are asked to contribute. When you contribute to your United Fund, you are showing you care for yourself, your family, friends and community.

Your fair-share pledge is needed to help the local United Fund meet its 1967 campaign goal of $26,550. This goal is necessary for the continuance of health, welfare and social agencies in Putnam County.

In memory of by son, Lawrence A. Cox who passed away Oct. 23, 1961.

In the light of God I see you,
Each night as I lie down

And with earthly things I'm through,
I pray the Lord to let me go
As peaceful and brave as you.

Mrs. Troyer Hostess
To D.A.R. Chapter

In spite of rain and bad weather, Washburn Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, filled the living room of Mrs. Merle Troyer on Tuesday, October 17. The group was enthusiastic in its response to the program, "Give Me Liberty."

The speaker was Mrs. John Sears who is noted for her interesting and thoroughly researched papers. Mrs. Sears chose Patrick Henry as her subject and presented it through the eyes of several biographers through the years who have delved into the many angles of this fascinating individual.

Patrick Henry's strength of conviction was a needed element in the development of our country as a new and independent unit. Though hot-tempered and thoroughly human, Patrick Henry's personality made its mark upon the direction our country and people took. There is a lesson timely today in the famous speech which Patrick Henry made after the Virginia House of Burgesses had been dissolved.

The business meeting was called to order by the regent, Mrs. Perry Michael. Miss Carrie Pierce, chaplain, led the group in prayer followed by the usual patriotic ritual. Reports from committees followed the reading of minutes and financial report. Mrs. Michael gave an informative account of her attendance at State Conference in Indianapolis October third and fourth. The State Conference is the important annual event in state D.A.R. A new state regent, Mrs. Glen E. Wheeler of Vincennes has taken office. There is a local C.A.R. group in the organizing stages and members were reminded that their children and grandchildren are eligible. In the absence of Mrs. Robert McCullough, the national defense article was read by Dr. Winona Welch. Mrs. John Whitaker reminded the group that November is always our time to remember the D.A.R. schools with a farewell offering and the contribution of used clothing.

Mrs. Troyer and her co-hostesses Mrs. Donald Austen, Mrs. Carl Huckleberry, Mrs. Curtis Mason and Miss Carrie Pierce served delicious refreshments during the social hour which followed.

Hints from Heloise

by HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Hello-I-see:

And the reason I call you this, dear Heloise, is because each day you say hello-to-me and I have begun to see!

I happen to be a modern, busy mother with seven boys and one husband. I buy all drip-dry and no-iron shirts, but the problem among the multitude — the males out-number the females in this household way beyond comprehension—in their complaint that the shirt tails wouldn't stay in their trousers.

I solved that.
I bought strips of iron-on patching tape and followed the directions.

I ironed a six-inch strip across the back of each shirt and a three-inch strip on each side of the front of the shirt about three or four inches below the waist. I put this on the outside of the shirt because the boy's trousers are usually drip-dry, too.

And you know that minute amount of cotton fabric keeps my horde of men's shirt tails neatly in their trousers.

Mother of Seven

You lucky mother.
And tell all of the males in your family how fortunate they are to have you for a Mom.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:
When the plunger in a spray bottle is stopped up and will not spray, remove it from the bottle and turn it sideways in a pan of warm water.

Just pump it several times while holding it completely under water and return it to the bottle.

It will work again.

Mr. J. H. M.

Dear Heloise:
I buy pork sausage in one- or two-pound rolls. As you know, sausage spoils rather quickly and frequently I have not used it all up before this happens.

The Lighter Side

By Dick West

WASHINGTON UPI—A lady who is identified as an "etiquette expert" broke into print the other day with a truly astonishing bit of bum advice. She wrote that when cocktail guests stay past the dinner hour, and dinner guests act as though they've come for the weekend, the host and hostess should refrain from pushing the ejection button.

"Just pretend you are tired," she said. "There is no approved way of sending them on their way."

"It is they who must initiate the homeward move, and when you've worked so hard to create the perfect-hostess image, you don't want to spoil it by dropping heavy hints."

Gad! I have rarely encountered misguidance of such magnitude.

Practical Problem

It is true that dropping heavy hints should be avoided. But not so much from the image standpoint as from the fact that they probably won't work anyhow.

The heaviest hint I know of is when the host and hostess retire to their chambers, re-emerge in their doctor dentons, sing two choruses of "Good Night, Ladies" and tippy-toe off to bed.

But chances are when they arise the next morning some of the guests will still be holding forth in the living room. To say, however, that "there is no approval way" of breaking up a party is pure twaddle. There are numerous ways it can be done, and without besmirching one's perfect-hostess image.

One charming couple I know initiate the homeward move by activating an aid raid alarm in their attic. Guests are then ushered through a door marked "shelter," which opens onto the street.

Bomb Threat Works

This method, however, involves rather expensive equipment. An anonymous post-midnight phone call warning that a bomb has been planted in the house or apartment likewise has drawbacks since it requires the services of a confederate.

I therefore recommend one of the less elaborate gambits for achieving mass evacuation of the premises. All of the following have worked well for me:

—The host puts on the phonograph an album of Edith Sitwell reading her own poetry. —The host invites everyone down to the recreation room to see his collection of rare bird eggs.

—The host brings out a movie projector and announces he is going to show a reel of interesting cloud formations taken last summer in Florida.

—The host brings out his ukulele.

—The host runs out of booze.

Gun Moll style

LONDON UPI—Buy a machinegun for spring, girls. This city is going gang-moll style, according to some of its top ready-to-wear designers.

Their message for next spring, as shown at a fashion spectacular, is a black maxidress topped with a black and white striped, waistcoat-type cardigan and helmet hat.

Try toting around an old machinegun instead of a handbag, like the models did in the show. Unloaded, of course.

London's idea of a maxidress is just below the knee, which is very long for London.

The 11 manufacturers in the Association Fashion Designers of London group made plain in their display that anyone who does not go for the 1930s gangster gimmick must stick to miniskirts.

These minis, outnumbering the longer hems by eight to one, could not be shorter. In fact a lot were turned into culottes for decency's sake with the hemline often 12 inches above the knee.

Next spring, London Girls will be showing a lot of back as well as a lot of leg if they follow the AFD trends. Cut-outs on evening dresses bared backs left and right.

One fashion house, Simon Massey, rolled everything into one.

Embassy denies knowledge of John Smith

MOSCOW UPI — An American who identified himself as a former U.S. intelligence agent said he defected to the Soviet Union because Washington is preparing "a new world catastrophe."

The man identified himself as John Smith, a native of Quincy, Mass. He said he once worked for the Central Intelligence Agency in India, but is now a Soviet citizen and lives in Moscow.

Smith told his story in the Soviet newspaper, Literary Gazette, due on the newsstands Wednesday. It was summarized by the official news agency, Tass.

The American embassy denied all knowledge of the man. "I never heard of this John Smith," an embassy spokesman said. "The only John Smith I know of was subverted by Pochontas."

Smith said he spent his first 17 years in Quincy and attended the Thayer Academy in Braintree, Mass. In 1943, he said, he helped build warships at the Four Rivers Shipyard, then enlisted in the U.S. Navy.

He attended naval academies, then joined the Navy's special liaison department, which deciphered enemy codes. After the war, he said, he entered Washington University.

Smith said he joined the State Department in 1950, was sent to the embassy in New Delhi and recruited by the CIA.

Disillusionment followed, he said. He claimed he began criticizing American policy and was rewarded with "endless checkups of his loyalty, tapings of his private telephone, reading of his letters."

He said he left the State Department and lived in Australia, Africa, Switzerland, Austria and Italy, before deciding to settle "in this great and humanitarian country" and taking Soviet citizenship.

Smith said he originally entered the State Department even though he "was not very much interested in political questions."

But Tass said that, after he went abroad, "he saw for himself how the U.S. government was suppressing other peoples and how it was engaged in the preparation of a new world catastrophe."

Truck driver dies in Ohio crash

BRYAN, Ohio UPI — A truck driver burned to death when a collision with another truck trapped him in his cab near here Monday.

Dead was Martin Overton, Bridgeview, Ill. Two other drivers were injured. All were W. Graber, 33, Auburn, Ind., was treated and released at a hospital. John Higgins, 21, Bridgeview Gardens, Ill., driver of the truck in which relief driver Overton was riding, was to be released today.

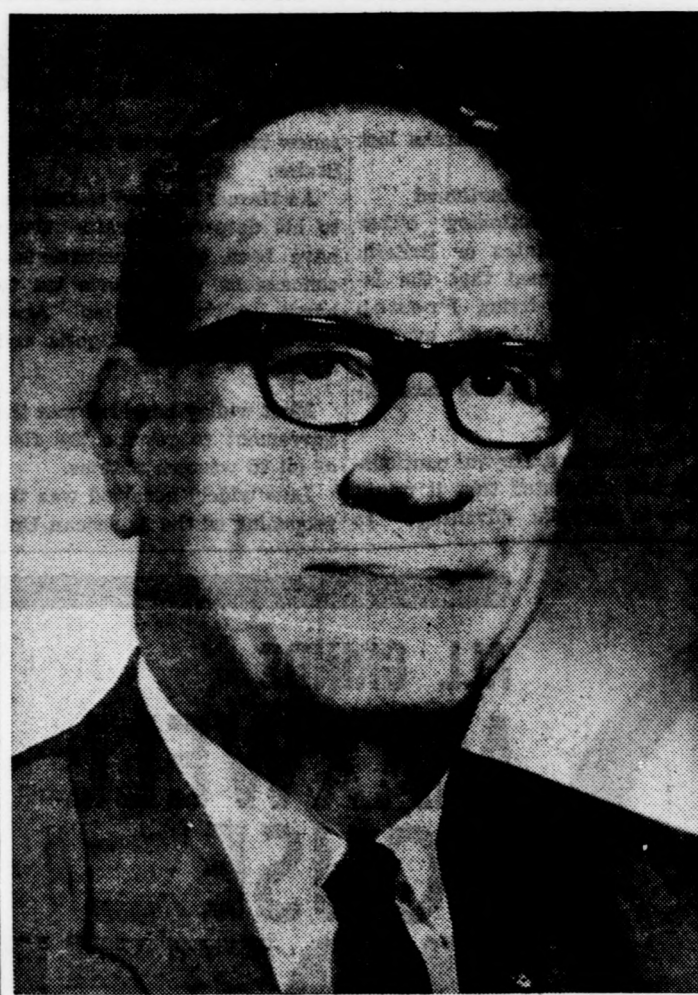

Higgins, driving a semi-tractor trailer rig, attempted to pass a dump truck driven by Graber, according to the Williams County Sheriff's Department. In the ensuing accident, Higgins' rig overturned and caught fire, trapping Overton inside the cab.

Both drivers were cited, Higgins for passing in an intersection and Graber for failure to signal a turn, sheriff's deputies said.

Residents file damage suit

INDIANAPOLIS UPI — Thirty residents of Beech Grove filed a $300,000 damage suit Monday contending a sewer line and a water line were joined, making many persons ill from pollutants.

Defendants were the City of Beech Grove, Mayor Elton H. Geshwiler, other city officials and the Indianapolis Water Co. The water patrons charged in their complaint that due to a leak between a sewer line and a water main, sewage seeped into the city's water supply and more than 125 persons became ill after drinking polluted water.

UAW president takes record pact to workers

DETROIT UPI — United Auto Workers President Walter Reuther today took his hard-won and record setting settlement with Ford Motor Co. to his 160,000 Ford members, confident they would ratify it.

"They will exercise their good judgement and ratify the agreement because they will realize that we have made substantial progress for every Ford worker," said Reuther.

But as he spoke following union's 300-man Ford Council meeting Monday night, about 250 skilled tradesmen chanted "no, no, no," in the background. This year, for the first time, the skilled tradesmen have the power to veto the national contract.

"Lord forgive them for they know not what they do," Reuther said in reply to the chant.

The council overwhelmingly accepted the tentative settlement just before midnight Monday. Reuther said about 98 per cent of the delegates voted in favor of the new three-year pact calling for a $1.01 an hour raise in the third year.

If the union's Ford workers accept the new pact, Ford assembly lines could start rolling before the end of the week. Ford's 93 plants in 25 states have been still for 48 days, since the old contract expired at midnight, Sept. 6.

The Ford Council, composed of delegates from 61 local unions across the country, deliberated for almost four hours before taking the final vote. Only a smattering of hands went up against the motion to accept

Indian summer in East; winter in the West

Indian summer prevailed in the East today while wintry weather shot over the Rockies and brought cool weather all the way from Minnesota to the Texas Panhandle.

The U. S. Weather Bureau recorded winds up to 69 miles an hour at Garden City, Kan., Monday night and gusts of 46 to 52 miles an hour at Colorado Springs, Lajunta and Pueblo, all in Colorado.

Along the leading edge of the eastward moving mass of cool air showers and thundershowers are scattered. But farther back in the mass are light showers and snow flurries from central Montana to Wyoming.

Temperatures dropped quickly as the path of the cold front moved along. Northwestern Kansas saw its 80-degree readings of Monday fall to nearly 40 early today.

The precipitation also was felt today along the East Coast from Florida to Georgia, but elsewhere clear skies were reported.

Hurricane Heidi today offered no threat to any land areas. The season's eighth hurricane already had moved 600 miles east of Bermuda by today and was moving eastward at 15 miles an hour.

Rusk to speak at Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND UPI — Defense Secretary Robert McNamara will speak at the University of Notre Dame "sometime during the current academic year," Chuck Nau, chairman of the Notre Dame Student Union Academic Commission, said Monday night.

No date for McNamara's address was set. His appearance will give the Johnson Administration a chance for rebuttal at remarks here Monday night by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., who called for an immediate "peace plan" for Vietnam.

Nau also announced Robert Welch, head of the John Birch Society, was scheduled to speak tonight on the campus.

Another speaker for whom no date has been set is New York City Republican Mayor John Lindsay.

U.S. to continue fight: Johnson

WASHINGTON UPI—President Johnson vowed Monday that the United States will continue to fight for its goals in Vietnam and will not be swayed by frustration, impatience or "unwillingness to stay the course."

"Peace and stability will come to Asia only when the aggressors know that they cannot take other people's land by force," Johnson said.

Johnson used as the forum for a renewed defense of his Vietnamese policies — in the wake of the biggest antiwar demonstration the nation's capital has ever seen—a convention of the International Federation of Commercial, Clerical and Technical employees at the Shoreham Hotel.

In a keynote speech to the 62-nation organization, on which only about half an hour's advance notice was given, Johnson appeared to be answering demands voiced by the antiwar demonstrators that the United Vietnam.

"In every way we can," he States "withdraw now" from said. "We search for peace in Vietnam."

"But we appear to be searching alone."

"Those who began the war are not willing to explore ways to end it."

"They cling stubbornly to the belief that their aggression will be rewarded — by our frustration, our impatience, our unwillingness to stay the course. 'It will not be so.'"

Johnson said the Asian allies fighting with the United States against the Vietnamese Communists share this conviction.

Before motoring to the hotel for the speech, Johnson issued a statement condemning "irresponsible acts of violence and lawlessness by many of the demonstrators" who laid siege on the Pentagon during the weekend.

"I know that all Americans share my pride in the men in uniform and the civilian law enforcement personnel for their outstanding service in the nation's capital during the last two days," he said.

The president said the security forces' actions "stand in sharp contrast to the irresponsible acts of violence and lawlessness by many of the demonstrators."

U.N. delegates mark birthday

UNITED NATIONS UPI — U.N. delegates took a break from their Vietnam and Middle East troubles today for a 22nd birthday program that omitted the traditional playing of Schiller's "Ode to Joy."

The concert to mark the anniversary of the world body's founding was to be given this year by the Vienna Symphony Orchestra in the General Assembly Hall.

In meetings before the concert the diplomats continued to search for a Middle East peace formula that could be placed before the Security Council.

However, prospects of a meeting of the 15-nation council this week faded as its 10 nonpermanent members failed again Monday to agree on a course of action.

Their problems were worsened by the sinking Saturday of the Israeli destroyer Eilat by Soviet-made guided missile fire by Egyptians.

Neither Israel nor Egypt has put the case before the Security Council. In Washington, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba S. Eban said his government would not do so because the council habitually voted for the Arabs and against Israel.

However, this month's council chairman, Senjin Tsokura of Japan, called the ambassadors of both nations to his office separately Monday to discuss the case.

Informed sources said Israeli Ambassador Gideon Rafael told him the presence of Soviet guided missiles in the Middle East was a war-and-peace matter that should be discussed.

Thundershowers head for Indiana

Thundershowers headed for Indiana today, and right behind them came a cold front.

Several days of sunny and mild weather were scheduled to come to an end within a matter of hours. Locally heavy rains were forecast tonight and Wednesday, and as the skies gradually clear Wednesday night, fair conditions and "much cooler" temperatures will develop.

Temperatures Monday hit highs in the 70s throughout the state, ranging from 71 at South Bend and Fort Wayne to 77 at Louisville and 76 at Evansville and Indianapolis.

Overnight lows this morning were on the mild side, too, ranging from 47 at Fort Wayne to 61 at Evansville.

Highs today will range from 73 to 84, lows tonight from the lower 50s to 63, and highs Wednesday will be more seasonal, ranging only in the 60s.

The shower and thundershower activity was scheduled to start in the western half of the state this afternoon or this evening, spreading eastward by tonight. Brisk winds will accompany the weather front, ranging in velocity from 15 to 30 miles per hour.

Public invited to attend "Stop The World," musical

The DePauw Student Union cordially invited the Greencastle public to attend the popular British musical "Stop the World — I Want to Get Off" to be presented in Meharry Hall this coming Friday, October 27, at 7:00 and 10:00 p.m.

Written by Anthony Newley and Leslie Bricusse, "Stop the World" was first presented in Manchester, England, in 1961 where it caused such a stir that it was taken to London and subsequently ran for 16 months with Newley as the one-man lead. Early in 1961 New York producer David Merrick spotted it and because of its great popularity in England contracted to bring it to the United States.

The show opened on Broadway in October, 1962, and continued to draw big audiences until February, 1964, when the show went on a long tour.

Presently, Jackie Warner has the male role as Littlechap.

Warner grew up in a theatrical world and has had a successful career as an actor both on and off Broadway and has appeared on many and varied television shows. As president of On the Aisle, Inc., Mr. Warner has directed and starred in "Stop the World" since 1965, playing a National Tour of Universities and Theatres throughout the country.

The show itself concerns a circus clown, Littlechap, who searching for a new act, finds the possibilities in enacting the story of his life as it was, is and might be. After many experiences throughout the world, Littlechap meets the ideal woman — his present wife — and "with a cry he stops his turning circus world to tell us what it is all about." Several popular songs are found in the repertoire of the show, among these "Gonna Build a Mountain" and "What Kind of Fool Am I."

Tickets for this outstanding production may be purchased at the DePauw Bookstore. Only 600 tickets are available for each show and no seats are reserved.

Here's my solution: As soon as I come from the grocery, I cut the whole roll, paper and all, into slices. Then I wrap the sliced roll in foil and put it in our freezer.

When I get ready to cook sausage, I can take the edge of a knife and just break off as many slices as I need, re-wrap the roll and return to the freezer. My sausage always stay fresh until it's all gone.

No need to thaw the frozen slices before cooking.

Here's a hint on how to keep emergency telephone numbers right at hand.

Write the numbers on a small piece of paper and tape it on the inside of the receiver of the telephone with "see through" cellophane tape.

By putting it on the inside, it is not noticeable when the receiver is on the hook.

In case of an emergency, just lift up the receiver and dial away.

Bainbridge To Vote On Gas Proposal

The Town Board of Bainbridge has called a special election on Friday, October 27th, to vote on whether the Town should have a natural gas system. An engineering feasibility report has been made for the Board by Frank Hobbick, consulting engineer. His estimates show that the city can lay a line to the Panhandle Eastern pipeline three miles north of the city and build a distribution system for $140,000.

Gas Revenue Bonds would be issued, and no taxes would ever be levied for the system. Natural gas rates would save most gas customers 40% or more on their annual fuel bills, and the engineer estimates that the system will make the city an annual profit after operating costs and bond payments of about $5,000 per year after the first three years of operation.

If the Bainbridge voters approve the gas system, the Town will make application to the Federal Power Commission for a supply of gas. Construction of the system would be planned for the summer of 1968.

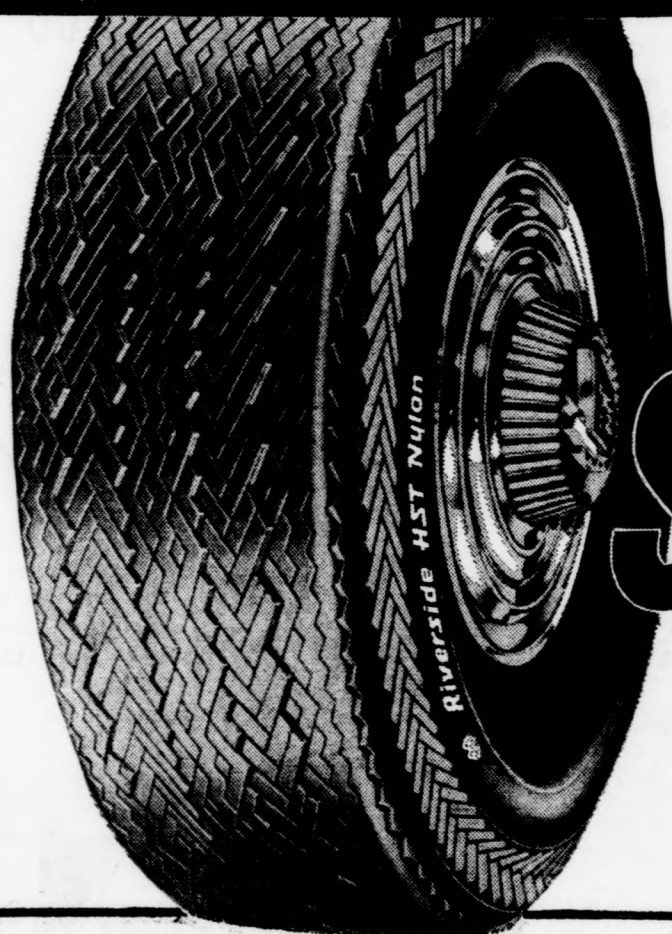

The Town of Bainbridge owns and operates profitably its water and electric systems, and the gas system would be operated in conjunction with these systems.

TIGER KITTENS DROP FOURTH—Greencastle's Pee Wee football team, the Tiger Kittens, dropped their fourth game of the season in six starts Saturday to undefeated Milk Bowl Conference foe Carmel, 33-0. Carmel's depth and size overcame the smaller local crew and proved to be the deciding factor after a close first half. The Kittens are members of the tough Milk Bowl Conference which host such teams as Noblesville, Deaf School, Eagledale, Eagle Creek, Indianapolis Lawrence, and Tabernacle. Alex Warfield is head coach with assistants Jim Cahoon and Elmer Lemly sharing the work. The team will play their season final October 31 when they will tangle with Indiana's Deaf School under the lights on the local turf.

Kokomo after Central's win skein

The longest winning streak in Indiana high school football may get a stern test this week when seventh-rated North Central goes against Kokomo of the North Central Conference. The Marion County team

Mengelt clings to scoring crown

INDIANAPOLIS UPI—Franklin's Tom Mengelt scored just once last Saturday and added a couple of conversion points—but that was enough to retain his comfortable lead for the 1967 Indiana college football individual scoring crown. He scored once in a 32-0 lashing of Indiana Central and booted two extra points, giving him 69 markers in six games and a 21-point cushion over his closest rivals.

Mengelt has scored eight touchdowns and 21 extra points. Teammate Keith Gerbers and Leroy Keyes of Purdue are runnersup this week—Gerbers for the second week in a row. While Gerbers failed to score against the Greyhounds—he passed for a touchdown, however—Keyes scored the Boiler-makers, only two touchdowns in the 22-14 upset by Oregon State to move up from a third-place tie last week.

Two Ball State backs, Amos VanPelt and Dick Lester, are tied for fourth place with 46 points each. Both are credited with seven touchdowns and four extra points.

Keyes, Mengelt and Gerbers lead the touch down parade with eight apiece.

Alone in sixth place with 42 points is Indiana flanker Jade Butcher, on seven touchdowns. Completing the leaders, tied for seventh place, are Pat Bruin of winless Anderson, Jim Brumfield of Indiana State and Ron Johnson of Taylor. All three have six touchdowns, or 36 points.

hasn't lost in 23 games and is itching for a crack at teams that play generally tougher schedules. Kokomo at 2-5-1, has an unimpressive record, but after the Wildcats Wednesday, North Central runs into Marion, also of the NCC, and the Giants have lost only to top-ranking Richmond.

With the season winding up in two to three weeks, there were still four major unbeaten and united teams, led by eight-game winner Richmond. Third-rated Evansville Reitz and Fort Wayne Concordia have won seven games while Terre Haute Gerstmeyer, idle last week, has won six.

Richmond's next-to-last foe Friday is Indianapolis Attucks. Reitz goes against Evansville Rex Mundi in a Southern Conference tussle Thursday. Gerstmeyer has a Western Conference date with West Vigo Wednesday.

nessday, while Concordia clashes with city rival Dwenger Friday.

No. 2 South Bend Washington, tied but unbeaten and tops in the state the first two weeks of the popularity poll, was heavily favored for the Northern Conference crown Friday when it plays crosstown rival Riley, whose only league loss has been to Elkhart.

East Chicago Roosevelt, No. 4 in the UPI coaches' board elite and winner of its last half a dozen games, plays Northwest Conference foe Hammond Clark Thursday while No. 5 Bloomington invades Columbus for a South Central Conference headliner the next night.

This week's program is spread over five nights because of the annual state teachers' conventions. Another weekend feature, this one Saturday, pits New Albany against Jeffersonville, ancient backyard rivals.

Powerful Southern California is 35 point favorite over Oregon

NEW YORK UPI—Powerful Southern California, the nation's No. 1 ranked major college football team, gets an easier-than-usual opponent this weekend with the unbeaten Trojans a 35-point favorite to wallop Oregon.

The Trojans, undefeated in six games and led by sensational O. J. Simpson, faced rugged tasks the previous two weeks and came away with victories over Notre Dame and Washington.

The nationally televised game sending Notre Dame against Michigan State doesn't carry a point spread, presumably because several Spartan players, including quarterback Jimmy Raye are injured and are questionable starters.

It will mark the first time in four years that Notre Dame or Michigan hasn't been ranked No. 1 when they met. Notre Dame was No. 1 in 1964 and again last year when the two teams battled to a tie. Michigan State was No. 1 in 1965. The Irish are ranked 10th this week and the Spartans aren't listed in the rankings.

Second-ranked UCLA is idle this week and third-ranked Colorado is an 18-point favorite over Oklahoma State.

Fourth-ranked Tennessee is a 7 point choice to beat Louisiana State while fifth-ranked North Carolina State is a nine-point pick over Duke.

Sixth-ranked Georgia is a 21-point pick over Kentucky and seventh-ranked Purdue is favored by 20 points over Iowa.

The game between eighth-ranked Wyoming and Arizona State isn't listed and ninth-ranked Houston is favored by four over Mississippi.

In other games this weekend:

East: Army 3 over Stanford, Colgate 13 over Brown, Cornell 3 over Yale, Harvard 2 over Dartmouth, Navy 15 over Pittsburgh, Penn State 3 over Syracuse and Princeton 13 over Penn.

Midwest: Ohio State 7 over Illinois, Minnesota 11 over Michigan, Oklahoma 3 over Missouri, Northwestern 5 over Wisconsin, Nebraska 10 over TCU, Colorado 18 over Oklahoma State and Kansas 14 over Iowa State.

South: North Carolina 6 over Vanderbilt, Florida State 20 over Mississippi State, South Carolina 12 over Maryland, Georgia 21 over Kentucky, Alabama 8 over Clemson, Virginia Tech 7 over West Virginia, Miami (Fla.) 6 over Auburn.

Southwest: Arkansas 20 over Kansas State, Texas A&M 11 over Baylor, Oklahoma 3 over Missouri, Texas 7 over Rice, Texas Tech 3 over Southern Methodist.

West: Washington 6 over California, Oregon State 18 over Washington State.

IU takes Big Ten first place

By United Press International

While followers of Indiana's Fighting Hoosiers are pinching themselves—yes, it's true: they ARE in first place in Big Ten football—Ball State and Indiana State are getting set to battle for the Indiana Collegiate Conference crown.

Ball State, winner of the undisputed crown the past two seasons, and the Sycamores from the Wabash are 4-0 in the ICC loop and they tangle at Terre Haute Saturday. The winner is expected to go all the way.

The fight for the Hoosier College Conference crown will linger on a while longer. When Taylor rolled over Hanover last Saturday, 47-6, the two were lumped into a first-place deadlock at 3-1. Taylor can take a half-game lead Saturday by winning at Franklin, which is by no means a certainty.

Franklin's John Burger is the state's leading passer with 13 completions for touchdowns.

Indiana, meanwhile, is still jubilant over its hair-raising 37-20 win at Michigan, its third straight in the Big Ten and its fifth in a row, tying the all-time school winning streak established 57 years ago.

The Hoosiers play their final non-conference game of the season at Arizona Saturday while Purdue is expected to tie for the league lead by taking its anger out on lowly Iowa.

Purdue was shot down from the perfect ranks by Oregon state last Saturday, 22-14, in a major upset.

Notre Dame, 3-2 after spanking Illinois, 47-7, entertains Michigan State amid expectations the Irish will go all out to "avenge" last year's celebrated 10-10 deadlock.

Other ICC games Saturday are DePauw at Butler and Evansville at St. Joseph's. Indiana Central at Anderson is the only other HCC scrap.

Saturday's schedule is rounded out with Hanover at Wabash, Manchester at Defiance and Rose Poly at Principia.

Patterson ready for youthful Quarry fight

LOS ANGELES UPI—Floyd Patterson has been written off by many boxing experts. But he doesn't talk like a 32-year-old fighter whose career is near an end.

"I feel very good," Patterson said following a workout in preparation for his 12-round bout with youthful Jerry Quarry at the Olympic Auditorium here Saturday.

"I think I will win," he added in a hushed tone. "I'm confident."

Saturday's fight will be the last of the first round bouts of the eight-man World Boxing Association tournament to select a successor to deposed champion Cassius Clay.

"I try not to think about retiring," Patterson said. "I know the day will come eventually when I have to retire but when that day comes I'll face it then."

The quiet-spoken veteran is seeking the heavyweight title for the third time. He is the only man ever to regain the crown.

"I think it will be an interesting and exciting fight," the former champion continued, "because of the difference in our styles and the fact that we have fought once before."

"I know Jerry thinks he will win. But so do I."

The pair battled to a 10-round draw at Los Angeles last June 9, an encounter which saw Floyd knocked down twice in the second round and Jerry on the canvas in the seventh.

Three other men remain in contention for the top spot, Oscar Bonavena, Jimmy Ellis and Thad Spencer. Bonavena upset Karl Mildenerberger, Ellis defeated Leotis Martin and Spencer decisioned Ernie Terrell in first round fights.

Although nothing apparently is official the winner of the Patterson-Quarry fight probably will meet Spencer with Bonavena pitted against Ellis in the other semifinal bout.

Finley Wanted DiMaggio as Oakland mgr.

NEW YORK UPI—Charlie Finley wanted one man to manage his ball club—Joe DiMaggio.

This was no sudden brainstorm with Finley. He had given the idea a great deal of thought.

Joe DiMaggio managing Oakland? It sounded like a natural. Why not? DiMaggio always has been enormously popular around San Francisco's bay area where he grew up and still spends much of his time, and if he were to manage the new Oakland franchise, Finley reasoned, many people would come out to the ball park simply to see him.

When Finley gets an idea, he likes to tell others about it. So about a month ago, he went to Frank Lane, who was once his general manager at Kansas City and now is a trouble shooter for Baltimore, and asked his opinion.

"What would you think if I hired DiMaggio to manage for me in Oakland?" Finley asked Lane approximately a month ago, providing some idea what he thought his chances were at the time of getting permission to shift his franchise.

"You'd certainly be getting a class guy," answered Lane, "but I question whether you can get him to manage your club."

Frank Lane confirmed that conversation Monday in Clearwater, Fla., where he, Harry Dalton and other members of the Orioles' family were in the middle of an organizational meeting with Hank Bauer and his coaches.

Finley named Bob Kennedy his new manager Friday but only a few hours before the announcement Kennedy said, "I was just one of several people he told me he was interested in."

DiMaggio was Finley's No. 1 interest. There's little doubt Finley spoke to DiMaggio about managing next season before he named his executive vice president and there's equally little doubt Joe said no thanks to that first proposition.

The memory of that December day in 1951 when DiMaggio retired as an active player with the Yankees still remains vivid. They asked him whether he had ever given any thought to managing.

"I have enough trouble trying to manage myself without trying to manage 25 others," he said.

From what he says, he still feels the same way.

As Finley's chief executive now, DiMaggio inherits the job recently relinquished by Ed Lopat and once held by Frank Lane.

Finley signed Lane to an eight-year contract in 1961 and after Lane served only eight months, he went to court and won a release from his contract as well as a $113,000 settlement.

"Finley pays more attention to me now than when I worked for him," quips the always colorful Lane.

"I think he's making a helluva good move in getting Joe DiMaggio to work for him. It's a fine piece of window dressing for the Oakland club and Joe will help a lotta boys in spring training. Instead of going to camp with the Yankees, he'll be with the A's, that's all."

Finley probably is paying DiMaggio somewhere between $40,000 and $50,000 as vice president.

Shower limit work in fields

LAFAYETTE UPI — Fall showers limited farm field work to two days last week in Indiana, bringing seeding and harvesting operations to a halt in some areas.

Robert Straszheim, Purdue University agricultural statistician, said little progress was made in corn harvesting. "Ears are still high in moisture and unfavorable harvesting weather held progress to under 10 per cent of the crop harvested," his report said. The average for this date is 25 per cent harvested, although only 15 per cent was completed a year ago.

"Sorghum grain harvest made virtually no progress from a week earlier with still only 20 per cent of the crop combined," the report said. "This compares with 35 per cent last year and 65 per cent for average."

The report said the soybean harvest was 65 per cent complete, compared with 75 per cent a year ago and 80 per cent average.

"Some progress was made in sowing wheat with 70 per cent of the crop now in," Straszheim said. "Average is 80 per cent seeded and 75 per cent was seeded a year ago. Over 55 per cent of the crop has emerged which is average, and stands are considered good in nearly all areas."

The apple harvest was reported unchanged at 70 per cent completed, compared with 80 per cent a year ago and 85 per cent average.

Topsoil moisture was reported at its highest level since mid-May. Topsoil moisture was rated mostly adequate to surplus, while subsoil moisture was rated short to mostly adequate.

Bill Churchill back in business

SATELLITE BEACH, Fla. UPI — The complex regulatory machinery of government notwithstanding, Bill Churchill was back in business today, selling frozen pop from a tray in his driveway.

And waiting to get in the first lick was Gov. Claude Kirk.

"He's a very nice man," Billy said of his governmental benefactor, who trimmed red tape binding the concession.

"It's absurd and ridiculous," said Billy's father, a space scientist who went into orbit when the Health Department aborted Billy's business.

Kirk got into the act last week when it was learned that health regulations were forcing 11-year-old Billy to liquidate.

For two years Billy had been selling frozen pop for three cents a cube to his neighborhood chums. With the profit, he had brought a dog named "Heidi" and had stashed some away for college.

Then a neighbor complained. The governor sent an aide to Brevard County to find out why.

It's all squared away now. Kirk himself will jet to Satellite Beach to buy the first Churchill pop. The Florida Development Commission has kicked in some free orange juice.

Billy and his mother went to the Health Department in Melbourne Monday and got typhoid shots and tuberculosis tests. A Health Department official inspected the premises. In due course, they will be issued health cards.

"We've even been offered portable rest rooms," said Billy's father, William F. Churchill. "But who wants those things sitting in their front yard." One of the complaints had been that the stand did not provide toilet facilities.

OFFICERS RETIRING

ATHENS UPI — The Greek military regime Monday announced the retirement of 57 more army officers said to be either opposed to the revolutionary government or strongly pro-royalist. Two weeks ago 144 high-ranking officers were retired.

Opening lead—nine of clubs. The most interesting hands to play are those where declarer can make an apparently sure loser disappear. More often than not, declarer accomplishes this feat in an entirely rational but relatively simple way.

For example, take this case where West leads a club against four spades.

DAILY TV GUIDE

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD UPI—Network something of a climax tonight. NBC-TV will turn all of its three-and-a-half hours of prime time to movies. In short, it is a double feature.

The first film is an excellent one, "A Hard Day's Night," starring The Beatles.

This will be followed by a Jerry Lewis comedy entitled "Cinderella."

In addition tonight—highlighting another major part of network television's new look—there will be a 90-minute adaption on ABC-TV of the Broadway musical "Kismet."

The stars are Jose Ferrer, Anna Maria Alberghetti, George Chakiris, Barbara Eden, Hans Conried and Cecil Kellaway.

An unfortunate ratings victim of those hot properties will probably be an hour CBS-TV documentary, "Where We Stand in Vietnam," which is up against "Kismet" and "Cinderella."

At any rate, tonight will be a sort of pinnacle point of the dual powers of video's new look: movies and specials.

And the fact that it is not merely a hotshot one-night spectacular is indicated by a look at Wednesday's schedule, which shows that ABC-TV will present the movie version of the Broadway musical "The King and I" with Yul Brynner and Deborah Kerr.

One of the most surprising aspects of the new look for the networks is their discovery of successful substitutes for movies, which are in increasingly short supply.

Last season, NBC-TV came up with a group of original two hour films made specifically for television, dropped them into the movie slots every so often and came up with top ratings. More of these films are scheduled for this season.

And if spot overnight ratings are any indications, ABC-TV may also have come up with a movie substitute formula of its own: two-hour adaptations of famous plays, the first of which, "Johnny Belinda," was broadcast Sunday night in the network's usual motion picture slot.

ABC-TV says the New York City overnight rating was almost in a dead heat with the combined average of its last five movies: "The Greatest Show on Earth," "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Whatever Happened to Baby Jane," "The Yum Yum Tree" and "Harlow."

"Johnny Belinda," a fine production, starred Mia Farrow, who is Mrs. Frank Sinatra, which undoubtedly helped in the ratings. Miss Farrow's talent and famous name are a potent combination of factors that ABC-TV cannot count on for ratings help regularly.

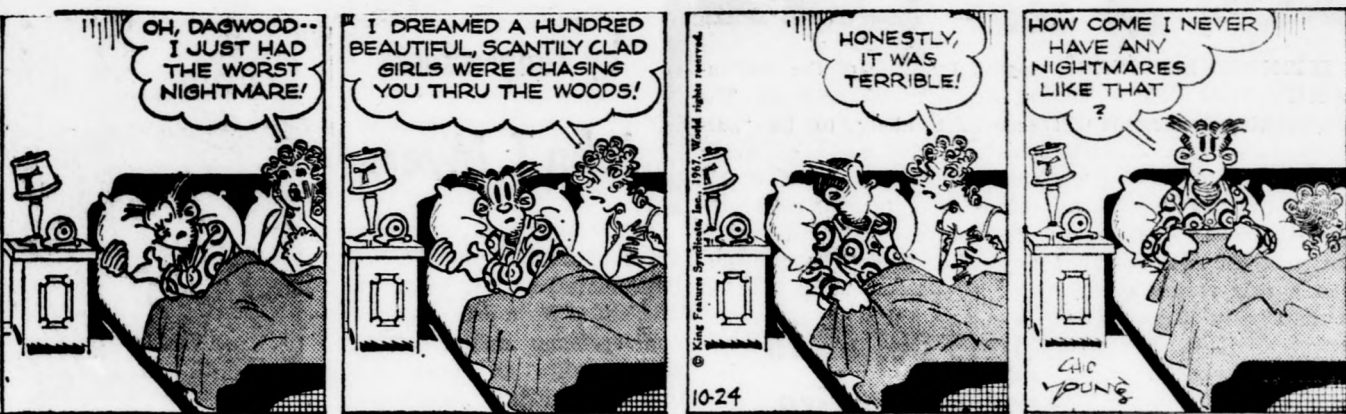

In any case, the network says "Johnny Belinda" scored an overnight rating in New York City comparable to the combined average of five movies on ABC-TV, CBS-TV and NBC-TV last week.

ABC-TV's next two-hour play, "Dial M for Murder," starring Laurence Harvey, Diane Cilento and Hugh O'Brian, will be presented Nov. 15.

THE TOWN NUISANCE, after driving the entire sales force in a dress shop to distraction for a full hour, finally snapped, "How is it that I never get what I ask for in this establishment?"

"Perhaps," sighed a nerve-frazzled saleslady, "it's because we're too polite."

An angry little man burst into a post office to announce, "For some months now, I've been deluged with an avalanche of threatening letters and I demand that something be done about it."

"You have a just cause for complaint," admitted the local postmaster. "That sort of thing is a federal offense. Have you any notion who's sending you these letters?"

"Of course I have," snapped the angry little man. "It's those darn income tax collectors."

From school essays by representatives of our brilliant upcoming generation:

1. "It was Nathan Haley who said, 'I have but one life to give for my country.' This has come to be known as the famous Haley's comment."

2. "In France girl babies are found in rose bushes and boy babies are found in cabbages. In America and England, the stork brings babies. In all other countries, they are born normally."

Romney begins eight-day trip

LANSING, Mich. UPI — Michigan Gov. George Romney today begins a cross-country trip apparently to get a cross-section of party sentiment for his unannounced candidacy for the presidency.

The eight-day trip, which will expose Romney to the political winds and Republican whims in 10 states, begins in the Great Plains, stretches to the Rockies, to the Southwest, and through the East to New England.

There were few meet-the-people stops scheduled, with most of the slate filled with dinners and lunches with party faithfuls.

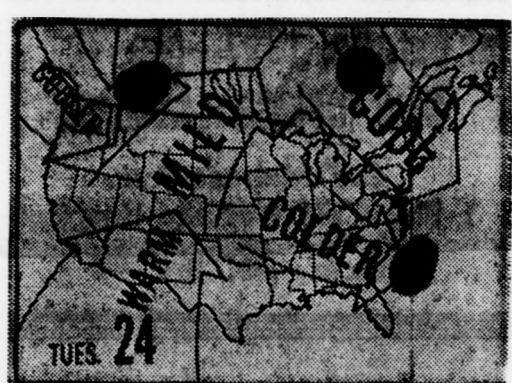

The itinerary includes a possibly significant stop at Phoenix, Ariz. Romney arranged the stop after former U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater invited his one-time protagonist to speak to a fund-raising dinner.

At every stop along the way Romney will talk to fellow Republicans. His presidential aspirations are certain to crop up time and again.

When Romney returns to Michigan Nov. 1, he'll have two weeks before he is expected to formally throw his hat in the GOP presidential ring.

Four of the states on the Romney itinerary have presidential primaries and Romney already has said that if he decides to run, he'll enter the first-in-the-nation primary in New Hampshire, one of those states. The other presidential primary states on Romney's schedule are South Dakota, Massachusetts and New Jersey.

"HAWAII"

(By BERNARD BRENNER)

WASHINGTON UPI — The world's growing food needs will not call for any substantial boom in the number of acres cultivated by American farmers over the next 15 years.

That forecast was detailed here in a new research paper by a nationally known farm economist, Earl O. Heady of Iowa State University.

Heady's studies indicate that per-acre production from U.S. farms will increase rapidly in the years ahead as agricultural technology continues to improve.

As a result, the economist believes that even if export markets for American farm products boom to three times the current level, farmers will be able to meet 1980 domestic and export demands without using about 47 million acres of the nation's 1955 cropland base.

Since roughly 40 million of those "base" acres are currently held out of production under various government programs, a figure which could increase to the neighborhood of 45 million in 1968—Heady's estimates would indicate 1980 cropland needs are very close to current levels.

Heady's study was filed last week with the Agricultural Research Institute of the National Academy of Sciences. The economist likely to be "surplus" in 1968 could be larger than 47 million acres if his estimates of technological progress prove conservative, or if exports do not triple by 1980.

Girls perish in residence fire

CARTHAGE UPI — Two daughters of a minister were burned to death late Monday night when fire destroyed their frame home.

The minister's wife was hospitalized with burns and another daughter escaped unhurt.

Authorities said Cathy Baker, 18, and her sister, Kim, 11, were trapped in an upstairs bedroom. Their bodies were found by firemen.

They were the daughters of the Rev. and Mrs. John Baker, Rev. Baker, minister of Wesleyan Methodist Church here, was at work at Indianapolis at the time.

Cause of the fire was not determined. Mrs. Baker was hospitalized in nearby Rushville.

The Baker home was located a block from the minister's church.

Report from Washington

by congressman

John T. Myers

put its fiscal house in order.

By placing a spending ceiling on all departments, the House hopes the Administration will examine and make basic changes in the mushrooming Great Society programs. To date the Administration has refused to consider this approach. It demands its tax increase in return for only promises of budget cuts.

The House has now taken the initiative by putting a limit on how much the Administration can spend. There must be restraint in federal spending if we are to avoid the much talked about tax increase.

MARITIME ADMINISTRATION—The House also approved this last week a bill to create an independent Federal Maritime Administration which would be headed by a Federal Maritime Administrator. This can be accomplished without additional cost by consolidation of existing maritime programs under one roof.

We have written in previous newsletters of the major crisis in America's maritime industry. This bill would go a long way toward providing an answer to this potentially disastrous situation.

The House has now served notice it favors a Merchant Marine that can meet our defense commitments and once again carrying the American flag to all the world ports of trade.

Once the independent Maritime Administration is established, the maritime industry will cease to be a political football that is kicked from department to department. We need long-range solutions to the many problems besetting the maritime industry. I believe this bill will reverse the downward trend of recent years.

Several counties to change time

Pockets of communities in Northwestern and Southwestern Indiana will switch to "slow" time next Sunday, and the state will be in two time zones for the first time since last April.

Lake, Porter, LaPorte, Starke, Jasper and Newton Counties were expected to move their clock and watch hands backward one hour in line with the Chicago area change from Central Daylight to Central Standard Time.

Similarly, the Evansville area—including Vanderburgh and an undetermined number of other southwestern counties—was scheduled to go back to CST.

But elsewhere over the state, there will be no time tinkering when the traditional 2 a.m. hour on the last Sunday in October rolls around. The bulk of the state remains on Eastern Standard Time despite the fact the official line separating the Central and Eastern zones zig-zags down the middle of Indiana in line with an Interstate Commerce Commission decree in 1962.

The division in Indiana will come despite the federal uniform time act of recent vintage, aimed at avoiding such situations.

Three fliers rescued after 9 days of Arctic winds and cold

By JAMES D. SIMPKINS

FAIRBANKS, Alaska UPI — Three fliers who survived nine days and nights of cold and howling Arctic winds were plucked from the icy Yukon tundra Monday by a rescue helicopter.

They were flown to Inuvik in Canada's northwest territories where they were to rest overnight and be returned to Fairbanks today.

The three were in good condition except for a few bruises suffered when their light plane crashed a week ago Saturday while on the second leg of a transpolar flight from Anchorage to Oslo.

They said the plane went down after the fuel pump on the left engine failed and the generator went out, making their navigation equipment inoperable.

The crash occurred during an unsuccessful attempt to reach the radar range of Shingle Point, the only station with radar in the area. Despite their injuries, the men were able to survive because they had rifles, sleeping bags and other survival gear.

Before they were finally spotted Sunday, the Scandinavians said they were bitterly disappointed earlier in the day when they saw and heard a DC3 search plane, but the crew apparently did not see them.

While the weather was their enemy, it also was their salvation. The search plane pilot who spotted them Sunday had changed his flight sector when a storm closed in his primary search area.

"If the weather hadn't been so bad at Inuvik," explained the pilot, Bob Shinn, "we wouldn't have been searching the area where we found them."

The downed fliers are Einar Pedersen, 49, Stockholm, chief navigator for Scandinavian Air Lines Systems (SAS); Thor

Tjoentveit, 39, former SAS navigator now working for Wein-Alaska Airline, and Rolf Storhaug, 21, Oslo, the son of an SAS pilot.

High court refuses to enter Amish conflict

WASHINGTON UPI — The Supreme Court has refused to look into the conflict between the Amish religious sect and state compulsory education laws.

In a brief order, the court denied a hearing to Leroy Garber, 41, Yoder, Kan., an Amish farmer who was fined $5 for refusing to send his 15-year-old daughter to a public high school. The Kansas Supreme Court ruled against him on Nov. 5, 1966.

This is the first time the problems of the Amish with education authorities have reached the high court. Members of the sect have been fined and jailed in several states, and Canada.

Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice William O. Douglas and Abe Fortas wanted to hear the case. This vote was one short of the number necessary for Supreme Court review.

Garber, a member of the old order Amish Mennonite Church, ran into trouble when Kansas changed its education law to compel school attendance to age 16. Before that education was compulsory only through the eighth grade. His daughter, Sharon, was only 14 when she completed eighth grade.

To comply with the law, Sharon took correspondence courses at American School in Chicago and attended an Amish-run school in Yoder one day a week. The Yoder school also requires home vocational activities. But the Kansas courts ruled these activities did not fulfill the requirements of the law.

Garber argued that the law abridges his constitutionally guaranteed freedom of religion. The Amish beliefs stem from a literal reading of the Biblical injunction, "be not conformed to this world."

The Iowa Legislature recently exempted the Amish from the state school laws.

Modern radar devices can measure time accurately up to 1/30,000 of a second.
